This section¹ defines terms that appear in the IEEE 802.17 resilient packet ring (RPR) specification. A term is a word that has a specific technical interpretation. Terms referenced within a definition are italicized. The following rules are applied: – The expansion of an acronym is not capitalized even in cases where the source document does capitalize the expansion. – U.S. English spellings are used in cases where there are multiple English spellings (e.g. color vs. colour). – In ...
